Taghkanic CAC meeting January 18, 2018

The meeting began at 5:00 PM

Present were Joyce Thompson, Moisha Blechman, Zita Kobos. Anna Kadish and Larry Kadish

Anna mentioned that she had left messages with Sam Pratt about possible future CAC activities at his property sometime during next summer or fall. Since Sam was not at this meeting, we will contact him in the coming weeks or months.

We then began discussing the possibility of Taghkanic becoming a CLIMATE SMART COMMUNITY. We were not sure that our Town Board would be interested in doing this, although the members present at this CAC meeting expressed favorable opinions. We will send a summary of this suggestion to Town Board members and ask for their responses. Anna Kadish will write this up and send it to our CAC members for their comments and /or approval. If approved by the CAC we will send it to the town Board. We discussed mechanisms to inform town citizens about this possibility, including available energy fairs, in the area and discussions of energy use and saving, community solar systems, etc.

Since the town of Ancram in Columbia County has done a significant amount of work on this, we decided that asking someone from Ancram, such as Colleen Lutz or Robyn Reynolds or another Ancram CAC member to come and speak to our CAC or our Town Board about this.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:40 PM. The next Taghkanic CAC meeting will be on February 15, 2018.
